ST. LAWRENCE PACT WRITTEN INTO PROGRAM

NO WORLD COURT ACTION; SILVER DISCUSSED

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The administration program for congress began taking shape at a White House conference late today with the St. Lawrence waterways pact written on the list for this session and the protocol for adherence to the world court being rubbed off.

Silver also came prominently to the fore in the president's discussion with congressional leaders today and there were subsequent intimations of new administrative moves on this subject with a diminishing prospect of legislative action.

Wants Soldier Bonus

From indications during the day, there will be a number of partisan skirmishes over the economy act which last session reduced the compensation of thousands of veterans and slashed the pay of government employes 15 percent.

Senator Robinson (R-Ind.), brought forward bills to restore the veterans cuts and Representative Snell (R-N. Y.), said he favored restoring the full 15 percent to government workers instead of the five percent planned by the administration.

A petition to pay the soldiers' bonus in full also was filed during the day by Representative Lundeen (F-L-Minn.)

The St. Lawrence treaty question has been pending since the former secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson, and William Duncan Herridge, Canadian minister, signed the pact on July 18, 1932.

The treaty, if ratified by the senate and the Canadian parliament, would provide for the joint construction of a ship canal through the international rapids section of the boundary stream. Under its terms, it is estimated the United States would spend $258,000,000.

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—Acceptance by the house of the ways and means committee's liquor tax bill without material change was apparent today after considerable debate in which charges were made that poisonous alcoholic beverages were being sold at huge profits by racketeers in the liquor industry.

The major issue raised over the measure came on its proposed $2 a gallon distilled spirits rate which was estimated by Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.), as capable of raising $300,000,000 on the basis of an expected 150,000,000 gallon annual consumption.

Notice was served by Representative O'Connor (D-N. Y.), that before a vote could be had on the bill tomorrow, he would offer an amendment to increase the rate to $5 a gallon. He argued that the advocates of repeal had "sold the country" on the idea of revenue from liquor and asserted this was "no time to run out on the promise."

TRIAL NEARS

DR. ALICE WYNEKOOP

Defense attorneys Thursday lost one legal maneuver in the case of Dr. Alice Wynekoop, who will stand trial Jan. 11 for the murder of her son's wife Rheta. A motion to suppress state evidence in the shape of bloodstained clothing worn by the victim and other paraphernalia in Dr. Wynekoop's office was denied by Judge Joseph B. David of Chicago. The defense claimed the evidence illegal, pilfered from the home by "prowling policemen."

WYNEKOOP CASE SET FOR JAN. 11

Elderly Physician Still Ill at Jail; Evidence All Admitted

Chicago, Jan. 4 (AP)—The bloodstained trappings, the instruments of death, the surgical paraphernalia of Dr. Alice Wynekoop's medical office were retained by the state today for her trial a week hence for the murder of her son's wife, Rheta.

A legal maneuver of her defense attorneys to block the trial by declaring the state's evidence illegal, pilfered from the Wynekoop home by prowling policemen, was set aside by Judge Joseph B. David.

A hundred fans clamored at the courtroom door when the case was called for trial, but they were disappointed. Again the elderly woman was too ill in her county jail cell to face the charge that she put her daughter-in-law to death with chloroform and a pistol bullet fired into her back. Attorney Frank Tyrrell asked for a week's continuance, and Judge David said he had already informed the jail physician Dr. Wynekoop need not come to court.

"We're ready to defend her January 11," said Attorney W. W. Smith, who has been added to the defense staff.

The defenders then presented a list of articles that formed the "properties" of that strange death scene November 21 in the basement surgery of Dr. Alice on West Monroe street. There were

WORKER KILLS TWO CHILDREN

Found Wife in Arms of Another Man, Says Confession

Chicago, Jan. 4. (AP)—Taken to an undertaking establishment to view the bodies of his two children, John Piotrowski, 27 year old CWA worker, stared at them dully today and muttered his second confession.

"It's true, I killed them," police quoted him as saying. "I guess this means the chair."

He wrote his name for the second time on his confession, made yesterday, confirming its brutal story of how, in a jealous frenzy, he clubbed his wife, their two children, and a young roomer he said he found in his wife's arms when he came home unexpectedly.

Betty Ann, the Piotrowski's 3-year-old daughter, died an hour later. The other child, a 10 month old boy Piotrowski said he drowned in a tub of water.

Earlier in the day Piotrowski had repudiated his confession, reverting to his earlier story that he knew nothing about the double murder.

Huge Loans Asked By Detroit Banks

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—Appeals for vast loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to save the Michigan banking structure, made two weeks after stockholders had been informed that conditions had improved, were described today before the senate committee inquiring into the Detroit bank collapse.

Along with the appeals, the evidence showed, the Reconstruction corporation was given a warning that unless the necessary aid was granted, the Union Guardian Trust company of Detroit probably would be compelled to close its doors, and that other units of the Guardian Detroit Unit Group, Inc., would have to follow.

PRISON SURVEY AGAIN INVITED

Previous Report Brought Sharp Criticism of Parole Policies

Lansing, Jan. 4. (AP)—The Osborne Association, Inc., which recently submitted prison and parole policies in Michigan to sharp criticism, was invited by the state prison commission tonight to make another survey of penal institutions in this state.

A telegram was sent by the commission to the association's headquarters at Auburn, N. Y., inviting the survey. The association previously had notified the commission it planned to study conditions at the Detroit house of correction and would extend the survey to other penal institutions if the commission were friendly to the proposal.

The survey will start within the next two weeks, O. K. Fjetland, member of the prison commission, said. He added that it would cover every prison in the state.

Release of the association's recent report covering a survey of Michigan prison conditions led to a controversy with state authorities. The report claimed that prisons in the state were breeding grounds for potential riots and condemned the parole policy here.

Members of the prison commission countered with the charge that the survey on which the report was based was made in 1931 and that conditions had improved since that time. Parole authorities claimed they were without adequate appropriations to bring about the reforms suggested in the report.

Toll Of Floods In Los Angeles Reduced To 38

Los Angeles, Jan. 4. (AP)—As more than 1,000 active workers continued the search for bodies, the fluctuating death list in the New Year's Eve flood tragedy in Los Angeles suburbs was reduced to 38 in a coroner's report late today.

The number of persons still reported missing was pared down to 60.

Many of these, authorities believe, may be in sodden tombs of mud, debris and rocks which clutter up the Verdugo Hill slope communities where the floor was worst.

There was also some speculation as to whether several bodies may have been swept out into the Pacific ocean from the Los Angeles and San Gabriel Rivers. Fishermen reported seeing trees, doors and other large objects obviously from the flood area, floating several miles out to sea.

The coroner's report was based on a thorough check designed to account for erroneous identifications and duplications in previous unofficial lists of dead.

Boys Escape from Iron County Jail

Crystal Falls, Mich., Jan. 4 (AP)—Joseph Snorski, 11, and Richard Karkowski, 14, were sought by police tonight 24 hours after they broke out of the iron county jail as they awaited commitment to the state vocational school at Lansing.

Authorities said the two had admitted robbing two stores. The boys made their escape from the women's cell block where they were held.

Needy Schools Get Money From State

Lansing, Jan. 4 (AP)—Immediate release of $1,200,000 to destitute school districts covering January needs was voted today by the augmented state administrative board.

The release was the opening move in putting into operation the machinery for distributing some $15,000,000 to needy school districts under the emergency relief act of the special legislative session. The board adopted a policy of passing upon applications for relief and appointed a working committee of its membership.

Paul F. Voelker, superintendent of public instruction, estimated school needs under the act at $1,300,000 in February, $2,100,000 in March, $2,100,000 in April, $2,500,000 in May, and $1,200,000 for June. The board will meet next month to make definite allocations for the future.

The first distribution will be made to schools threatened with closing before March 1. Of the $1,200,000 to be made available for February, $500,000 will be taken from surplus sales tax revenues. Another $500,000 will be made available in the form of emergency loans and another $700,000 will be taken from the emergency fund, comprised of all surplus state funds, created by the emergency school act.

A five man committee of the board was appointed as a working organization. It will be comprised of Voelker, State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry, Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien, Rep. Vernon J. Brown, of Mason, and Senator Henry C. Glasner, of Charlotte.

School districts desiring aid will be required to furnish the department of public instruction with detailed information concerning their needs and their fiscal condition. All sums advanced to the districts will be deducted from amounts due them under the provisions of the $15,000,000 appropriation act of the regular session.

Allegan Approves Power Dam Issues

Allegan, Jan. 4 (AP)—Despite a federal court injunction restraining the city from issuing bonds for a municipal power dam project, Allegan voters today went on record in a special referendum approving two bond issues for the purpose. The vote was 1,016 for the proposals and 178 against. The measure also would grant a franchise for operation of the municipal plant.

Election day was marked by the slashing of tires on a number of automobiles which had been parked by individuals who police said distributed hand bills urging voters to defeat the proposal and attacking the dam project. Sheriff's officers investigated but reported no clues.

Soo Fire Deaths Are Investigated

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 4 (AP)—Prosecutor Frank Kaltz today ordered an inquest into the death December 8 of Mrs. Ernest Hibblen, Mrs. Erline Orr and their five children who perished in a midnight fire at Algonquin.

Officers began an investigation immediately. Prosecutor Kaltz said the investigation was begun at the request of Hibblen, and that several witnesses would be questioned.

TORNADOES HIT PENSACOLA, FLA.

Six Persons Injured; Damage Estimated Around $50,000

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 4 (AP)—After whipping up lofty waterspouts in the harbor here today, two tornadoes lashed suddenly at the city leaving six persons injured and property damage unofficially estimated at $50,000.

Three-year-old Marion Kenneth Rigby, most seriously hurt, may not live.

Others injured:

Procter Guernsey, cut by flying glass.

The Rev. Thornton Crews, also cut by flying glass.

Three negroes, Betty Baldwin, Elizabeth Morris and James Dexter.

Many others were slightly injured.

One of the storms lashed westward along the waterfront, turned northward along the edge of the business section and veered again to the northeast, striking a negro section and leaving a swath 150 feet wide and three blocks long.

At least 30 houses were demolished in the negro section. Debris was blown half a mile.

The other storm skirted the shore and blew a roof off a magazine at the naval air station. Damage there was estimated at $2,000.

There was no water damage from the waterspouts.

The Rigby child was blown from the arms of his father and against a tree 200 feet away.

Furniture Men See Improved Business

Chicago, Jan. 4. (AP)—Greatly improved business in the retail furniture field during the first quarter of 1934 was forecast tonight by furniture merchants from ten sections of the country and by Dr. Kenneth Dameron, deputy administrator of the NRA.

Their optimism marked the annual dinner meeting of the National Retail Furniture association at the American furniture mart here.

The association elected H. E. Bennett of Barker Brothers, Los Angeles, Cal., president.

BIG MAJORITY PROMISED FOR HUGE BUDGET

"PAY AS YOU GO" BASIS AFTER JUNE, 1935

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt today asked congress to approve the biggest peace-time spending program in American history and, despite some head-wagging, it was soon apparent that his recommendations would be enacted in much the same form as he submitted them.

Some Democrats were surprised at the size of the figures proposed, while the Republicans expressed amazement and a few of them concern. The president's party with its huge majority rallied staunchly around him, however, and support, or at least no intention of opposing the program, was indicated by some members of the minority.

President Sets Limit

Reduced to simplest terms, the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, and estimates for the remainder of the current year foresaw:

Government borrowing of ten billion dollars in the next six months.

Expenditures for the two years totalling $16,529,805,667, receipts aggregating $7,234,601,234, a deficit for the two years combined of $9,295,000,000 and a consequent increase in the public debt to $31,834,000,000, the highest point it ever has reached.

Of these disbursements, $5,017,488,467 were listed as general outlays for the ordinary expenses of the government and the remainder, $11,512,317,200, was set down as emergency spending intended to further the recovery program.

"It is my belief that so far as we can make estimates with our present knowledge, the government should seek to hold the total debt within this amount," said the president, referring to his $31,000,000,000 forecast.

Looking Ahead

"Furthermore the government during the balance of this calendar year should plan to bring its 1936 expenditures, including recovery and relief, within the revenues expected in the fiscal year 1936."

Thus, the chief executive served notice that after June, 1935, he intends to put the government on a "pay as you go" bais with the added assertion:

"We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery and from that time on seek a continuing reduction of the national debt."

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt recommended that the present rate of 3 cents for non-local letter mail be continued, as his post

Non-Federal Work Gets $38,294,237

Washington, Jan. 4. (AP) The public works administration today allotted $38,294,237 for 167 non-federal projects.

Those allotments together with a similar number to be announced later in the week will virtually exhaust the remaining funds from the original $3,300,000,000 of public works money.

Some of the allotments were made as loans and grants, the loans to be repaid with interest at 4 per cent, the grants representing 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials. Others were only grants of the percentage of labor and material cost, the remainder of the money necessary for the funds to be raised locally.

The allotments included one of $29,000, a loan and grant, for a sewage disposal project at Paw Paw, Mich.

BLAMES POLICEMAN

Detroit, Jan. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Melba Levin Rubin Thursday asked that a warrant be issued charging assault and battery against Patrolman William Newton, whom she accused of breaking her shoulder while questioning her about a traffic accident. Recorder's Judge Donald Van Zile took under advisement the request for a warrant.

GIFT BABY

A nation-wide search to identify the 18 month old white boy shown above found with a negro woman in a Detroit rooming house ended recently when the mother of the child was found in Buffalo. The negro woman, Betty Holland, 29, who was held on a kidnaping suspicion charge was dismissed when the mother admitted she gave her child to the negro woman. The police will turn the child over to an orphanage.

TWO MUSKEGON SKATERS DROWN

Engaged Couple Fail to See Open Water in Darkness

Muskegon, Mich., Jan. 4. (AP)—The bodies of Miss Olive Erickson, 21, and Elnar Olsen, 23, were recovered today from Muskegon Lake, a short distance from where they skated to their death in the darkness last night.

Marks cut into the ice by their skates led searchers to open water. One of Olsen's gloves was found a few inches from the edge of the ice and it is believed he lost it while struggling to pull himself to safety. The bodies were found in 50 feet of water, grappling hooks locating them within a few feet of each other.

The couple went skating with another couple Wednesday night and disappeared. Some fear was felt late at night when they failed to return but it was not until this morning that Olsen's car was found parked near the dock and dragging was started.

They had skated into an open lane left by the freight and passenger steamer Missouri as it steamed out of port an hour before the couple went skating. The lane was open water with little slush ice to screen it and apparently only darkness prevented Miss Erickson and Olsen from seeing the danger.

Miss Erickson was the daughter of a North Muskegon mail carrier and Olsen lived in Muskegon. They were engaged to be married.

French Seaplane Crosses Atlantic

Natal, Brazil, Jan. 4 (AP) The huge French seaplane "Southern Cross" on the basis of whose performance France hopes to perfect the first trans-Atlantic mail service, landed here this morning after completing a 1970-mile flight from Saint Louis, Senegal, in 18 hours, 27 minutes.

This was the first experimental flight of the craft, an 11-ton ship capable of carrying nearly 11 tons of fuel.

Naval Commander Bonnot and the three members of his crew, who found the South Atlantic crossing much to their liking, expected to fly back to Senegal tomorrow.

The French government hopes to initiate a daily service between Paris and Rio de Janeiro soon.

WANTS HIS $1.50

Flint, Jan. 4 (AP)—A. M. Olsen, of Ludington, Mich., has sent an order for $1.60, issued 13 years ago as a coroner's jury fee, to the Genesee county clerk's office to be cashed. He said he found the order among some old papers and could use the money now. Records are being checked to determine whether the order can be paid.

REFERENDUM ISSUE STUMBLING BLOCK IN DEADLOCK

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 5 (Friday) (AP) — After defeating every effort of administration leaders in the senate to drive through Governor Comstock's so-called insurrection bill, the senate adjourned shortly after midnight, without day, thus ending all current possibility of the bill's passage.

Governor Comstock was not immediately reached, but he previously had been described as ready to re-call the legislature in special session for further consideration of the administration of the bill which would have enabled the state to issue bonds for public construction in the amount of $30,000,000.

The stumbling block in the measure proved to be the matter of a referendum concerning its adoption. The Republican majority, mustering some support from the Democratic ranks, insisted that the bill be submitted to a vote by the people. The Democrats were equally adamant in their insistence that the referendum provision be stricken.

A conference committee of the two houses late Thursday night released a report, which was refused by the senate because it had stricken out the referendum provision.

When it became apparent that the conference report could not be adopted, a request was sent to the house asking a second conference. The house consented, but before the committee could be shaped, administration Leader Leon D. Case moved for adjournment, and the motion was carried, 14 to 13.

Follow Party Lines

The net achievement of the current special session was the passage of the $4,000,000 housing bill providing for a slum clearance project in Detroit, and passage of the municipal revenue bonding bill permitting cities to provide for financing municipal public utility systems.

Members of the conference committee followed party lines in striking out the referendum clause, the two Republicans opposing the step, and the four Democrats insisting upon it as an administration measure. The Republican members were Senator John W. Reid, Highland Park, and Representative V. J. Brown, of Mason. The Democrats, Senators A. J. Wilkowski, Detroit, and Henry C. Glasner, Charlotte, and Representatives William M. Donnelly, Detroit, and M. Clyde Stout, Ionia.

The bill as reported by the committee also eliminated the proposed $100,000 appropriation for a naval armory at Hancock and cut the appropriation for the Legion hospital at Battle Creek from $541,500 to $350,000.

Objects of Delay

Sixteen senators and a number of representatives definitely are opposed to elimination of the referendum clause, while Governor Comstock is actively opposed to its inclusion. In a speech delivered

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

The president's budget message, calling for government borrowing of $10,000,000,000 in six months, and an $11,129,000,000 expenditure and $9,000,000,000 deficit for the next two years, went to congress.

Senate finance committee approved the nomination of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as secretary of the treasury.

Public works administration allotted $38,294,237 for 167 non federal projects.

Senate asked the treasury for full information on war debts.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, said he looked for no legislative action on silver, that the St. Lawrence waterways treaty probably would be taken up this session and the world court protocol probably would not.

House took up the liquor tax bill calling for a $2 a gallon tax on spirits.

The president sent more than 100 recess nominations to the senate for confirmation.

Representatives of 33 dry organizations in a conference decided to merge in a campaign against liquor.

office estimates were predicated upon it, and asked that the present ban on automatic pay increases for government employes be lifted so far as army, navy and marine corps personnel were concerned.

To provide a coordinated control of emergency expenditures, he announced that he had given the budget bureau supervision over such outlays and had given to the sharp eyes of Comptroller General McCarl the responsibility of auditing them.

Confidence Maintained

A total lack of reference to new taxation, combined with optimistic phrases as to the business outlook, encouraged Wall Street to a rally which transmitted itself to the grain pits. Of the future, the chief executive said:

"It is evident to me, as I am sure it is evident to you, that powerful forces for recovery exist. It is by laying a foundation of confidence in the present and faith in the future that the upturn which we have so far seen will become cumulative. The cornerstone of this foundation is the good credit of the government.

"It is, therefore, not strange nor is it academic that this credit has a profound effect upon the confidence so necessary to permit the new recovery to develop into maturity.

"If we maintain the course I have outlined, we can confidently look forward to cumulative beneficial forces represented by increased volume of business, more general profit, greater employment, a diminution of relief expenditures, larger governmental receipts and repayments and greater human happiness."

Snell "Shocked"

Members of house and senate were quick to offer their views on the president's message as soon as it had been read to the two houses by their reading clerks, a desultory performance, which found the members chatting with each other generally and a few following the printed text with which they had been supplied.

Speaker Rainey called the expected deficit for this fiscal year, $7,309,000,000, "startling indeed," but he added that "there is nothing so alarming about an increase of five to six billions more in the national debt when the normal national income is around $78,000,000,000."

Representative Snell of New York, the Republican floor leader, expressed himself as "overcome and shocked" and said it would take him several days to catch his breath.

At the senate wing of the capital, Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said the "frankness of the message" commended it and that "anyone familiar with the extraordinary expenditures of the government must have anticipated" the existence of a large deficit.

The Republican leader, McNary of Oregon, said the sums proposed by the president were the "largest in peace-time and we will have to slow down in the process of spending or we will never come back in earnings."

Results Already Felt

Much significance was attached to the statement of Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, influential member of the old guard Republican group he said the country was "perfectly able to endure a debt as large as $31,000,000,000 and if we can depend upon the president's assurances that after that debt is reached the budget will be balanced in fact, there is nothing to worry about."

President Roosevelt made a special point of the fact that for the two fiscal years covered in his message, the estimates forecast, ordinary expenditures totalled less than the expected receipts. In addition he pointed out that his estimates did not include revenue derived from pending legislation to reduce evasion of existing laws and to increase the tax on wines and distilled spirits which he estimated would have a combined yield of $200,000,000.

The chief executive prefaced his analysis of the nation's finances with a reference to the huge emergency expenditures already undertaken and a statement that their results "show themselves in concrete form in better prices for farm commodities, in renewed business activity, in increased employment, in reopening of and restored confidence in banks, and in well-organized relief."

Then he swung into a discussion of the country's finances for the current year, ending next year June 30.

Big Emergency List

Budget estimates of expenditures were $9,403,006,967, he said, and of receipts, $3,259,938,756. To this he added $1,166,000,000. Not included in the budget for this year which he said he believed necessary and the appropriation of which he recommended. Thus, he continued, the deficit for this year will be $7,309,068,211, that figure to be slightly increased by interest charges on borrowings in excess of budget estimates.

Of the total expenditures estimated for this fiscal year, $3,045,520,267 were listed for general operating costs of the government and $6,357,486,700 for emergency purposes. The latter figure was broken down as follows and against the figures were set the amounts already spent this year for these purposes:

	Estimated Year's total	Spent Thus Far	Still To Be Expended
Public Works (including Civil Works)	$1,677,190,800	$302,419,533	$1,374,771,267
Agricultural Adjustment Administration	103,250,000	39,523,732	63,726,268
Farm Credit Admin.	40,000,000	40,000,000	Exhausted
Conservation Corps	341,705,600	152,335,156	189,370,444
Reconstruction Corp.	3,969,740,300	597,606,188	3,372,134,112
Tennessee Val. Auth.	19,000,000	1,413,200	17,586,800
Federal Land Banks	52,350,000	18,688,778	33,671,222
Deposit Ins. Corp.	150,000,000	1,405,584	148,594,416
N R A	4,250,000	2,427,647	1,822,353

Much surprise was expressed at the extent of the expenditures allotted to the Reconstruction Corporation. The figure of $3,967,740,000 for the fiscal year, has as its larger items: $1,350,000,000 for purchases of the preferred stock of banks; $780,000,000 for loans to banks and trust companies; $462,000,000 for relief loans to the states; $500,000,000 for financing farm marketing; $200,000,000 for loans to mortgage loan companies; $171,000,000 for loans to land banks; and $180,000,000 for loans to agricultural credit corporations. The remainder is made up of a diversity of smaller items.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, Mr. Roosevelt listed budget estimates of expenditures totalling $3,960,798,700 and to this added a request for the appropriation of an additional $2,000,000,000 from which he might draw for whatever continuing emergency outlays were necessary. Receipts were estimated at $3,974,665,479. To back up his request for the extra two billions, the president said:

Relief Funds Needed

"It is clear that the necessity for relief and recovery will still be with us during the year 1934-35. Additional relief funds will be necessary. Further needs of the country prohibit the abrupt termination of the recovery program.

"No person can at this date definitely predict the total amount that will be needed, nor the item-

HIGH FINANCE

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The government plans to borrow within the next six months almost twice as much actual money as there is in the country.

The prospective borrowing, as revealed by the budget message today, is around $10,000,000,000. The amount of money in circulation (save some governmental funds for which no accounting can be made) totaled only $5,791,000,000 at the close of business January 3, 1934.

Uncle Sam will get his $10,000,000,000 through the use of bank and other credit since most financial transactions are carried on that way.

ing of such an amount. It is my best judgement at this time that a total appropriation of not to exceed two billion dollars will with the expenditures still to be made next year out of existing appropriations be sufficient."

Budget estimates of emergency expenditures in the next fiscal year were: public work, $1,089,883,100 (which has already been appropriated and almost all allocated); emergency conservation work, $65,190,000; Tennessee Valley authority, $31,000,000; and federal land banks, $12,650,000. For the Reconstruction Corporation this tabulation included a credit of $480,436,600 in estimated repayments to that agency.

The president gave a hint that the great relief organization might end its lending career by June 30 with a notation that if its lending authority should be extended beyond that date, its needs would be supplied from the extra two billion dollars he requested. The corporation is scheduled to die January 22, but an extension until June 30, at least will be requested by the president. After it stops lending, the plan is that it should continue with a small appropriation to cover its operating expenses over the period necessary to wind up its affairs and collecting the loans it has made.

RUMMLER ASKS VENUE CHANGE

Contends Fair Trial Impossible Because of Prejudice

A motion for a change of venue from the Delta county circuit court has been filed by Oscar Rummler, Marquette, federal prohibition agent, who is charged with driving a motor vehicle while drunk and with felonious assault upon the person of Carl Johnson at Gladstone on the night of Oct. 23. The two cases were scheduled to go on trial at the term of circuit court, which opens next Monday.

Rummler was brought before Justice A. D. Alguire at Gladstone on Nov. 8, was found guilty of the drunken driving charge and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs. Notice of appeal to circuit court was immediately filed. The same afternoon he waived examination on the assault charge and was bound over to circuit court to stand trial. He was released under bonds of $1,500.

Claims Prejudice

In filing the motion of a change of venue to another court, John J. O'Hara, Menominee, attorney for Rummler, charged that prejudices had been aroused against the prohibition agent as a result of the publication of several articles in the Escanaba Daily Press. Another reason advanced was that there was no chance for a fair trial in this county because of Rummler's activites in performance of his duty, including the arrest of a considerable number of Delta county citizens for violation of the prohibition laws.

Hearing on Monday

Hearing on the motion will be held when circuit court convenes here on Monday, with Judge Frank A. Bell presiding. Prosecuting Attorney William J. Miller indicated that he would oppose Rummler's petition.

Rummler was arrested last October by Gladstone police upon the complaint of Johnson, caller for the Soo Line railway. According to the testimony given by Johnson at the justice court trial, he had gone into a home to notify a railroad employee to report for work, leaving his automobile parked outside of the house. As he was coming out of the house, Johnson testified, a car driven by Rummler crashed into his machine.

Rummler, it was testified, accused Johnson of having driven into his auto and after some words the men walked to the main street of the city in an effort to locate an officer. None being in sight on the street, Johnson attempted to go into Renard's restaurant to telephone the police station. When Johnson insisted on phoning, an altercation ensued on the walk in front of the building during which, it is claimed, Rummler pulled a gun on Johnson and told him that he would do as told. Johnson broke away from the revenue agent and went into the building. Rummler followed with the gun in his hand. As the agent came through the door, Mrs. Renard, wife of the proprietor, who was at the front of the building, grabbed his gun and pleaded with him not to shoot.

At the justice court trial in Gladstone, seven witnesses were called for the state and with but a single exception all testified that in their opinion Rummler was under the influence of intoxicants at the time of the incident. It was also established at the time that Rummler was driving the auto at the time of the collision with the Johnson car.

Sawyer Urges Woodpile For Lazy Fellows

Mayor Carl J. Sawyer's idea of a rockpile is a woodpile.

At last night's meeting of the Escanaba city council, the mayor proposed that the city establish a woodpile, at which those individuals, who refuse to work to support their dependents, would serve out their sentences from justice court.

"There are several fellows around this town who think the world owes them a living and that they do not have to work," Mayor Sawyer said. "In fact, some of them have refused to work, but I've found that they manage to eat a goodly portion of the food that the city welfare department provides for their hungry children."

"I believe a woodpile would have a salutary effect on such fellows," the mayor continued. "I would suggest that we wait until the temperature gets down below zero and put these men out with saws to cut up some of the city welfare department's supply of wood. They shouldn't be allowed to build a bonfire. Make them work to keep from freezing, and have a policeman standing over them. A little exercise in the exhilarating air on these below-zero mornings might put some ambition into these drones."

The council asked the city manager to look into the feasibility of the woodpile scheme.

Storks, which are regarded as a sanitary asset in the Netherlands are decreasing in number, due, it is said, to their eating poisoned grasshoppers while wintering in South Africa.

Truck Owners and Drivers Expect To Get Increased Pay

Word has been received from O. K. Fjetland, executive secretary to Governor Comstock, that truck owners and drivers will receive 10 cents an hour more than heretofore on CWA projects, according to an announcement by officers of the Truck Owners and Drivers association. The association chiefs said they expected that the increase would become effective in the near future.

Truck drivers have been receiving 40 cents per hour on CWA road work, while the owners have been paid 70 cents an hour for truck rental, which they have protested is too low because of the outlay they must make for gasoline, oil, financing and upkeep of equipment. They contend that about twice that amount of hourly compensation is being paid truck owners and drivers in the Milwaukee district.

Frank Jaegers is president of the association.

Mental strains, night clubs, the cocktail habit and excessive smoking are four of the reasons given for the increase in the number of persons suffering from heart disease.

FILM DAILY SAYS—

Though it is getting monotonous to have to keep praising each new musical that comes along, they keep meriting the praise so thoroughly that there is nothing else to do about it. This latest from M-G-M is a real honey. It has a dandy Cinderella story by Frances Marion, deftly devised adaptation by Donald Ogden Stewart, clickety-click direction by Raoul Walsh, ace performances by Marion Davies, Bing Crosby, Fifi D'Orsay, Stuart Erwin, Ned Sparks and Patsy Kelly, and all those musical trimmings such as gorgeous girls, colorful ensembles, tuneful music and elaborate backgrounds. The picture has many stretches of rapid-fire comedy gags and satire, put over in grand style by the expert players, so that the affair should click in a big way with all audiences.

BOX OFFICE SAYS—

M-G-M has gone overboard to present in this picture a series of extravagant production numbers that for sheer beauty, novelty and tunefulness have never been excelled on the screen. Marion Davies is perfectly cast in the role of a school teacher who forsakes her books to follow Bing Crosby to Hollywood, having fallen in love with his voice. Crosby has plenty of footage and scores big in every scene. How Marion puts it over on a French star (Fifi Dorsay) and wins her dream lover and screen stardom is the typical Cinderella story. A sizeable fortune must have been spent and it shows. Picture has oodles of romance, music, comedy and originality. It can't miss. Directed by Raoul Walsh.

Phillips 66

Make This Your New Year's Resolution:-

"I'll Treat My Motor Right"

FIRST—Give it the Best Gasoline. THAT MEANS PHILLIPS "66". There may be other Gasolines that are Good But Phillips is the only "Best".

SECOND—Give it the right Motor Oil. THAT M E A N S PHILLIPS "66" ALSO.

Right Here We Want To Talk Lubrication

That may seem like an old subject. But a lot of NEW FACTS have just come out as a result of tests over several years by members of the lubricants division of the Society of Automotive Engineers "SAE."

These tests show that no motor bearings have received excessive wear or have burned out because of using too thin an oil—but only when too thick an oil has been used.

If you will remember that one of the principle functions of a motor oil is to take heat away from the bearings and cylinder walls and think of lubrication in that light—then your reason will tell you to use a thin oil—EVEN IN SUMMER. You will not get excessive oil consumption with Phillips "66". You must have some to get lubrication—but you will also get MORE MILES PER GALLON ON GASOLINE and MORE SPEED. Also LESS REPAIRS.

You wouldn't put molasses in your radiator. Why put molasses-like oils in your motor? If you wanted to cool something quickly, would you put it in water, or in tar?

For Easy Motor Starting—lowest gasoline consumption—Smoothest running engine—least repairs. USE PHILLIPS "66" MOTOR OILS 10W and 20W grades. Pour test: 10W, 30° below Zero, 20W, 25° below Zero. 100% Paraffin Base—Lowest Carbon Residue. And of course USE PHILLIPS "66" or "77" GASOLINE.

Right now the Gravity on our Phillips "66" is over 68°-70° and Phillips "77" Gravity is 78°-80°.

Every Single Drop of this OIL is pure, PURE, PURE!

Phillips MOTOR 66 OIL

We are only the heart of a 100% paraffin base crude. No effort or expense is spared to secure truly perfect refining. The result is a lubricant so pure, so free of all harmful substances, that it always delivers exceptional service. And holds its rich body under severest conditions. Reduce friction and heat, and reduce expense, too, with this world's finest oil for your motor.

SUGAR FACTORY HAD GOOD YEAR

Upper Peninsula's Beet Farmers Earn About $300,000

Reopening of the factory of the Superior Sugar Refining company at Menominee last year, after six years of idleness, was of material benefit to the farmers and workers in the community and prospects for the next season are unusually good, George W. McCormick, Menominee, general manager of the company, stated yesterday.

A considerable number of Delta county farmers, particularly in the Bark River district, planted sugar beets last season, and realized a satisfactory cash revenue therefrom.

Large Acreage Contracted

The sugar beet acreage in 1933 was the largest contracted for in the upper peninsula since the factory was built at Menominee in 1903. However, a very severe drouth condition prevailed for nearly three months during the growing period of the crop and extended from Green Bay north to Iron Mountain and Powers.

"This lack of rainfall resulted in a reduction of all farm crops in that area to the extent of fifty per cent during the past season," Mr. McCormick said.

"In the beet growing section which included Delta county and a small part of the northeast end of Menominee county, there was a more favorable rainfall and a much better result to the farmers in their beet crops, the average in that area running between 8 to 10 tons to the acre. The sugar content of the beets in this northern end of our territory was fairly good, reaching about an average percentage or slightly better, and we had favorable weather for the harvesting period.

$300,000 to Farmers

"The total quantity of beets received at our factory, of course, was materially lessened due to the drouth which prevailed." Mr. McCormick continued. "However, we had a fairly good run at the factory.

"Because the price of sugar beets to the farmer is based on the average price received from the sugar produced, we are not in a position to state what that price shall be until the sugar is all sold and paid for, which will probably be sometime in February. Judging from the sale of sugar up to this date, it would appear that we will pay out to the farmers of this and nearby counties something over $300,000 for their best crop. We received 1425 carloads of beets and several thousand tons came in by wagon and truck. We employed, during the operating period of our factory, an average of about 350 men. About 33 1-3 per cent of the employees were men off the farms in the vicinity of Menominee."

'TERRACE' UNDER NEW OWNERSHIP

Popular Ballroom Bought by Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGovern

Negotiations were commenced yesterday for the purchase of the popular Terrace Gardens ballroom by Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGovern, Escanaba, from Mrs. Paul Wickert. The deal is expected to be completed by Saturday, at which time a detailed announcement will be made.

The new owners are widely known, having been engaged in the grocery business on Stephenson avenue for many years.

The well known amusement place, located midway between Escanaba and Gladstone, was established by Paul Wickert about twelve years ago. The original structure, however, was destroyed by fire in July, 1932.

The present ballroom was erected last year and opened to the public on Saturday, October 21. Since the death of her husband in November, Mrs. Wickert has been operating it herself, but recently decided to relieve herself of the heavy responsibility that management of the large establishment entailed.

The new Terrace Gardens is a building, of Spanish style architecture, 124 by 65 feet, with a spacious dancing floor, attractive booths and other facilities.

Badly prepared and hastily eaten meals are said to be one cause of premature baldness.

Under the Blue Eagle

Chicago Basks in Prosperity Sun; NRA Plays Major Role in Upturn

This is the second of 11 articles on "America Under the Blue Eagle," a series written exclusively for The Press and other NEA Service newspapers after a 5000-mile journey of survey to the nation's principal centers of population, showing the situation after six months' operation of the recovery program.

BY WILLIS THORNTON

Chicago, Jan. 4.—This great brawling, hustling beehive in which swarm 3 per cent of all the American people—greatest railroad, grain and livestock center in the country—has managed to raise itself to a level of something very like prosperity.

How? Fifty per cent World's Fair and 50 per cent NRA, is the way a big downtown store executive explains it. Chicago's grim slogan of "I Will" is no pipe dream. She has.

There isn't any question about the improvement. It shows in every field, beginning in midsummer.

Chicago is the supply center of all the central and western states. So when in August Chicago held its "fall market opening" it held its breath as well.

Buyers Storm City

But 25,000 merchants came swarming down on Chicago—more than ever before in history. They bought somewhere between 25 and 30 million dollars' worth of goods from the big wholesalers.

An ordinary year brings 10,000 buyers and orders of around 15 millions. One wholesale house, selling apparel and household goods, reported orders from Texas from dealers who had not placed an order in years.

The mail-order business, which centers here, reports a minor boom. Several textile wholesalers report that they actually are short of stock.

Chicago, too, has had labor troubles. Two disastrous strikes in the millinery and dress lines came at the height of the season, and the milliners lost the whole season's business. Both strikes resulted in recognition of the unions, but six millinery and three dress firms moved out of town.

Laundry War Halted

The greatest cleanup was in the laundries, of which Chicago has 1400. They were in the midst of a vicious price war when NRA came along, and then 11 laundries which refused to fly the Blue Eagle threatened to ruin the industry.

Price cutting reached a point where some laundries were giving away three shirts with every 10 pounds of laundry.

Within 48 hours the whole vicious war was halted, and leaders later told the NRA compliance board here that it had done in 48 hours what they had been unable to do in 25 years.

Agreements had been made before, but always broken. This one is being made to stick.

Paul Kunning, secretary of the Association of Commerce and a leader in compliance work, tells you of visible progress in cleaning up the cleaning and dyeing, beauty parlor, and garage and parking businesses, all of which had been more or less infested with racketeers.

Racketeers Are Routed

"There are a dozen places in town where rackets will be broken up," says Kunning. "It is being done simply by allowing responsible people to reassume command."

The Chicago compliance board has 17 members, serving as volunteers. They have had 3486 complaints, all but 41 of which were settled by conciliators without formal board hearings.

K. P. O'Gallagher, executive secretary of the board, tells you, "In addition to settling those thousands of complaints, we have secured payment of $40,000 to employes which we found due them under NRA.

"Labor and employer members have worked together with little friction, as you can see by the fact that in no case has any minority opinion been submitted by any board member."

Labor Is Benefited

Only three eagles were recommended for removal, and of 425 petitions for exceptions, 130 were approved.

The Chicago Federation of Labor, strongest central body in the country, reflects the benefits of NRA to labor.

"We expect to have 400,000 members soon after the first of the year," says E. M. Nockles, secretary. "That's an increase of some 50,000 since last March.

"Our federation is behind President Roosevelt boots and breeches. He's the first president for many years who really wants to serve all the people."

Nockles doesn't agree on compliance. He thinks of employers that "every one of them has been cheating like a horse-thief, hoping the NRA will break down."

Goes After "Chiselers"

The federation's radio station WCFL, asked for examples of chiseling and received 25,000 replies, all of which were bundled up and sent to A. F. of L. headquarters in Washington without local investigation. No one knows, of course, what they revealed.

Go directly from Nockles' office to that of a La Salle street business man of more than ordinarily wide contacts, and he will tell you that permanent benefits to business men have come from elimination of price-cutting and unfair trade practices.

But he deplores that business men fear a topheavy bureaucracy and "too much dictation" from labor.

Business opinion is widely enough divided on NRA that a committee of the Association of Commerce, organized to frame a statement of its attitude, was unable to come to any agreement.

Nor was this association able to follow the U. S. Chamber of Commerce on the government's money policy. After long and careful consideration by a committee of Chicago's really big men, they asked only a prompt return to a gold standard such as should be determined by the president.

Johnson Arouses Ire

General Johnson made a definitely bad impression on business men here on his speaking tour. They bitterly resented his invective.

"We'll listen to reason," one of them told me, "but we can do that without calling names."

Others, including reporters for papers opposing the NRA, told me they thought Johnson was "swell" and "went over big."

Some idea of what NRA means to the huge packing industry here may be gained from the fact that the first year under the code is expected to cost Swift & Co. a million and a half in increased wages, and Armour about the same.

Yet they seem able to carry this burden. Armour, Cudahy, Swift, and Wilson each finished the year with profits of more than a million, and all made better showings than last year, despite increased costs.

The whole trick here, as with automobiles, lies in whether sales volume increases in 1934. There is some hope of export of lard to Russia, for there are enormous stocks of both lard and pork in storage, hanging over the market.

Fear Packing Strike

There has been comparatively little labor trouble in the packing industry, and recent raises were granted by the leading firms even above NRA levels.

The Chicago federation admits it has only about 15 per cent of the stockyard workers organized, but these are in the vital handling departments, which could tie up the unorganized or company union majority.

Conferences recently were held here looking toward a national strike of packing-house workers, and there seems considerable dissatisfaction with even NRA conditions.

One labor official told me, "Our problem is to try to hold them down and keep them from striking immediately, before organization is completed."

It was in Chicago that I met the "consumer-chiseler." He was introduced to me by Editor Phil S. Hanna of the Chicago Journal of Commerce. Hanna told me of one case of a restaurant across the street from a factory.

Consumers Chisel, Too

"The factory hands all got their raises," Hanna reports, "but when they found that the restaurant-keeper, who also had increased expense under the code, had to raise his prices a little, the factory men started to go home to lunch instead of eating at the restaurant, as they had been doing for years.

"That's a perfectly natural reaction, but it certainly is chiseling just as much as anything else. The consumer who is unwilling to pass along part of his income by willingly paying increased prices when they're justified is just as bad a chiseler as a employer who cheats on his payroll."

Observe these things in Chicago. A labor leader kicking about the NRA, though his organization has gained 50,000 members. And packers kicking about NRA, though their profits are greater this year than last.

NEXT: St. Paul, center of a great farming region, where NRA is extremely unpopular.

NRA SAVES INDUSTRY

A typical case of worthwhile accomplishment through the NRA is cited by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

In the large house dress industry, whose plants employ from 1500 to 3500 workers each, women were forced to produce 75 dresses a night to make $4 a week. That kind of house dress used to sell for $1, but dropped to two for 49 cents. Neither maker, wholesaler, nor retailer profited. Five manufacturers were ruining the industry.

First the cotton textile code, then the house dress industry code came along. Now these women earn $12.50 a week, and have slowed down to 50 dresses a night. You may have to pay $1 for the dresses in the stores, as you used to, but you needn't be ashamed to wear them.

HEARING FOR ROACH TODAY

Wells Youth Is Charged With Peterson Murder

Orin Roach, 24, Wells, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace H. E. Rangnede yesterday morning on a charge of murdering Emer Peterson at the latter's home in Wells last Monday evening. Roach demanded a preliminary hearing, which was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Following his arraignment, the alleged slayer was returned to the county jail, where he is being held without bail. Atty. Torval E. Strom has been retained by the defense.

Prosecuting Attorney William J. Miller said that he will call about a dozen witnesses to the stand this afternoon, including Mrs. Peterson, widow of the slain man, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Loftquist, Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnston, Patrolman Bernard Schram, and Coroner George C. Bartley.

An autopsy over Peterson's body was performed by Dr. Bartley. A bullet was removed from the victim's body. Authorities said that it corresponded with those used in the .22 caliber rifle, owned by Roach.

MESSAGE REASSURING

AN INSPIRING note of optimism permeated every section of the President's Roosevelt's message to the national congress, when it convened in Washington on Wednesday. The president's assertion that "the nation is definitely in the process of recovery," was the reassuring keynote of the entire document. It was entirely devoid of new legislative proposals, but in its every line there was expressed a determination to "follow through" with the emergency recovery program that has been undertaken.

The president strongly defended every department of national recovery activity and pleaded for patience and general cooperation, to permit tremendous national experiments to yield the beneficial results he confidently believes will be returned.

While there exists in the nation honest differences of opinion as to the efficacy of the present recovery program, no one will have the timerity to vigorously oppose this program at this stage of its development. Certainly, it will be admitted by all fair-minded people that President Roosevelt and his advisers have not been lacking in action and an honest endeavor to bring this nation out of the slough of despond. And, most certainly, it must follow that the president and his advisers are entitled to every possible measure of cooperation and sterling support, until it is possible to accurately judge results.

President Roosevelt's message will be generally accepted as just the sort of a message the nation needs at this time.

LEGISLATURE BALKS

IF THE first day's proceedings of the special session of the state legislature can be accepted as a criterion, Gov. Comstock and Atty. General P. H. O'Brien are not destined to get far with their pet plan for making easy the borrowing of funds for public purposes.

After protracted debate on the governor's proposal to borrow $3,000,000 in federal funds, to permit the carrying out of a modest institutional building program on the wholly unsupported theory that a state of rebellion exists in this commonwealth, the late senate, on Wednesday, struck out the paragraph "inspired wholesale" from the administration bill, reduced the amount proposed to be borrowed from $3,000,000 to $2,250,000 and provided that the entire proposal to borrow federal funds, in any amount, be first submitted to a referendum of the taxpayers of the state.

In the form the administration bill, permitting municipalities and other governmental units to borrow funds for public works, received the support of the people, not one cent of the institutional buildings program would be spent.

The senate appeared on the floor to be most unsympathetic to helping the needy, unless provided that all such projects must be thoroughly approved by the people.

Back in the senate chamber, a bill to abolish capital punishment in the state was defeated after a plea to the people of the state, while the legislature was in session, to express themselves on the subject by referendum. The senate refused to submit the question to the people at the cost of the resumed session.

PENINSULA NOT FAVORED

A FIRM is probably made in the liquor differentials in the prices charged for liquor in the upper peninsula's dollar-for-liquor, is correct, the section of Michigan is certainly not being favored by the liquor commission in the establishment of state stores and state authorized dispensaries for legal liquor. State stores were established in Detroit and a few of the larger lower peninsula cities before Christmas, but a state liquor store is yet to be opened in the peninsula. It was announced at Lansing on Wednesday that V. F. Cormley, of Newberry, upper peninsula member of the commission, will come to his home section of the state on Thursday and undertake a tour of cities in which state dispensaries are to be established, thus indicating that some time this month, some peninsula cities will have state stores in operation.

Whether by official sanction or merely by suffrance, a tour through some of the larger lower peninsula cities this week, revealed numerous drug stores displaying stocks of both liquor and wine for public sale. Whether these stores have been designated as state dispensaries by the commission and have been furnished with stocks of legal liquor and wines, or whether these stores have obtained stocks from other sources and are offering liquor and wne for sale in packages, without official sanction, is not known, but certain it is that the public demand for liquor is being supplied in the lower peninsula at other than speakeasies.

In the meantime the upper peninsula continues to appease its liquor demands at favorite "speaks" and from long established and now highly competent moonshine makers. In the interest of future law enforcement it might have been better for the commission to withhold legal sales in the lower peninsula, until the machinery could be set up to serve the entire state, including the upper peninsula.

START ON YOUTHS

IT IS a long distance from a big city underworld gang to one of the forest camps of the CCC. But a nation that is plagued by gangs and wonders what on earth it ever is going to do about them could do worse than study the connection between the two.

The other day a U. S. army officer, Capt. Thomas E. May, finished a six-month tour of duty with the CCC and told of his experiences in that outfit with certain budding gangsters from New York.

Captain May's camp had more than its share of tough young guys from the New York East Side. Sometimes, the captain admits, he felt that the New York welfare organizations that enrolled some of his young foresters "must have sent us most of their problem cases."

Some of the lads even tried to organize a racket in the camp itself, forcing companions to pay them for "protection"; one youngster wrote proudly to his mother, telling about it.

But eventually the captain got the boys straightened out. He separated the young racketeers and sent the individuals to other camps, where they could escape from association with their own kind; and he was amazed to see how quickly these hardboiled young city hellions turned into clean-cut, hard-working, and ambitious specimens of healthy young manhood.

The CCC have had much of a chance to say: "They hand it to you anything about civilian living. But I never saw a group too eager to do the right thing or more willing to follow a right example.

AMUSEMENTS

"Going Hollywood" and "Smoky" are the titles of the double feature program at the Delft today and tomorrow.

Marion Davies plays one of the most entertaining roles of her film career in the novel musical production, "Going Hollywood."

The picture, an original story from the witty pen of Donald Ogden Stewart, actor, humorist and playwright, is a key-hole view of the real Hollywood, yet one spiced with catchy song hits and bizarre dance ensembles which make it one of the most entertaining films of the year.

Bing Crosby, noted crooner of radio and motion pictures, plays the radio crooner role opposite Miss Davies.

Six jingly melodies have been created for the film by the noted composing team of Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, co-authors of the national song hits, "Wedding of the Painted Doll" and "The Old Woman in the Shoe."

"Smoky" is the story of a horse whose vicious hatred of men brands him a killer. During the course of his life, he befriends only one man, the man that has tamed and understood him. The friendship of the man and animal is so great, that when "Smoky" is stolen, his friend puts everything aside, including his love for his sweetheart, to go in search of his friend. In the years that follow, "Smoky" attains the reputation of the famous "cougar" of the rodeos, and then sinks to the depths of a junk man's cart horse, abused and forgotten.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT

© 1933 NEA Service, Inc.

As if it mattered, cried Gypsy to herself, rushing up the steps . . . as if anything mattered on this day of days, her wedding day!

Clytie, the colored woman who had cooked and scrubbed and nursed the Morells for some 20-odd years, ever since Gypsy's adorable and turbulent babyhood, appeared in the doorway. Clytie had a new pale green uniform, but her apron straps were crooked and her cap awry, as usual. Not even Gypsy's wedding day could make Clytie completely tidy. She rolled her eyes at them both in welcome as she swung the screen door wide.

"Bes' wishes, Mis' Gypsy," she cried sonorously. "Congratulations, Mist' Weaver."

In three minutes the old house was buzzling with noise and excitement. Gypsy, her veil tossed back, stood to cut the huge cake, of Clytie's baking, at a dining room table heavy with embroidery and yellowed lace. Mrs. Morell, a slender, melancholy lady in her early 50's, with the resigned expression of the chronic invalid, watched her only daughter anxiously. Gypsy was 'so flighty," all the relatives said. Maybe marriage would "settle her," although in 1932 marriage wasn't any too likely to achieve such results. And she was young to marry—22. Mrs. Morell herself had been 28 at the time of her own marriage, and 30 at the time of Gypsy's birth. Later—eight years later—had come the twins, Bertram and Beatrice. Mrs. Morell said to herself she'd never been really well since. But Gypsy—well, marriage would be different for her. Girls nowadays took it in their stride. Gypsy—fancy that!—was going to keep her job. She taught in a settlement house over in New York City. Her mother wondered gloomily just how long that state of affairs would last. Gypsy was such a child about everything, such an optimist. She thought it would be a lark to manage home, husband and job as well.

"A lot she knows," murmured Mrs. Morell darkly to herself.

while the conference committee was deliberating, the governor said:

"The recent vote on the subway plan in Detroit indicates fairly well what might be expected from such a vote. The objections to the referendum are it is expensive, unnecessary and entails such delay that all available funds may be allocated before the vote can be taken. Delay may defeat our chance in Michigan to participate in even the small balance still on hand."

The governor spoke from a local radio station.

The executive also objected to reducing the amount the state may borrow and to designating precisely the projects upon which the money must be spent.

"I realized that if specification of projects came up it would afford such an inevitable opportunity for trading that the real effective purpose migh be lost in the shuffle. That is just what happened. The minority bloc succeeded in getting the matter on that basis so the result was inescapable."

FUNDS FOR HOSPITALS

Lansing, Jan. 4 (AP)—As the insurrection bond bill went to conference committee the $13,466,560 proposed to be borrowed, would be apportioned as follows:

CANNON ON PARADE

Lansing, Jan. 4 (AP)—A group of Republican members of the legislature tonight raided the basement of the capitol during a lull in legislative proceedings, and dragged a small brass cannon from among the war relics into the house chamber.

Rep. William Ward, Grand Traverse, and Rep. William Birk, Baraga, constituted themselves the gun crew and announced that the artillery was "to put down the incipient insurrection."

House members joined the army and trundled the weapon back and forth between the house and senate chambers as onlookers roared with laughter.

Prominent Mason Reported Missing

Detroit, Jan. 4. (AP)—A search was being made today by Highland Park police for Edward J. McGrath, secretary of the Highland Park Masonic Temple association, the request coming from the association president, Fred Masterson.

Masterson told police McGrath had last been seen by friends at 9:30 p. m. Monday. McGrath, 60 years old, long active in Masonic circles, spoke to two friends at 8 p. m. Monday night, telling them he was going home "to get a good rest." He was later seen in a drug store but did not reach his home.

APPOINTMENT IS EXPECTED SOON

Geniesse's Commission as Postmaster Expires on March 16

Announcement of the appointment of a successor to Postmaster George G. Geniesse, whose commission expires on March 18, is expected to be received here from Washington in the near future.

Mr. Geniesse took charge of the Escanaba postoffice on Jan. 7, 1930, upon appointment by former President Herbert Hoover, with the recommendation of former Congressman Frank P. Bohn.

He succeeded the late John A. Semer, whose term was scheduled to end on March 18, 1930, but who resigned in January of that year in order to go on a tour of Europe. Mr. Geniesse was first named acting postmaster to fill out the unexpired term, receiving his regular commission later.

There has been considerable speculation as to what deserving Democrat will receive the postmastership. Naturally, the name of Gerald J. Cleary has been frequently mentioned because of his long activity in Democratic party affairs, as chairman of the Democratic county committee and also is committeeman of the Eleventh congressional district. Gossip also has it that Mrs. Cleary may be appointed, and others mentioned include Henry M. Stack, brother of Auditor General John K. Stack Jr.

Definite information concerning who is actually seeking the honor and who has the inside track is not obtainable, however. The Democratic county committee announced yesterday that the organization had not yet given consideration to the matter. It is expected, however, that a Washington news dispatch will be received sometime soon, telling of Congressman Prentiss M. Brown's submission to President Roosevelt of his recommendation for the Escanaba postmastership. The Escanaba postoffice is in the first class list of offices.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Ore Shipping Outlook Bright for Next Year

BY STANLEY D. NEWTON

On the corporate seal of the city of Negaunee there is a representation of a pine tree lying on the ground with roots exposed.

The wind which blew down that tree started something which has gone around the world. For the tree once grew in what is now the heart of Negaunee, and many tiny points glittered on its roots. Their sheen was bright in the eyes of an Ojibway Indian chief, Marji Jesick, and he called the attention of a white man to it. "Pewabic! Pewabic!" he exclaimed, pointing, and the iron-hunter knew that his quest was over.

The wind and Marji Jesick and the iron-hunter had uncovered the beginnings of treasure unimaginable—the first of the Lake Superior iron deposits, among the very richest of the world's natural resources. We could get along somehow without gold and silver and diamonds, but a civilized world without iron is unthinkable.

Long, Long Ago

That was in June, 1845, not far from a century ago. Ten years later Upper Peninsual iron mining was going full speed ahead, measured in terms of the time. Strap rails were laid down the hills from Negaunee to Marquette and lake shipping began. Other straps spanned the gap around the falls at Sault Ste. Marie, and tiny streams or ore and much more pig iron trickled through to Lake Erie ports where limestone and coal were plentiful.

Furnaces and charcoal ovens began to dot the highlands of Marquette county. The furnaces have long since disappeared, but the ovens and their successors are known to the woodsmen of our day as Paul Bunyan's beehives. They are cold now, but their white domes all over the peninsula were once the busy hives of the charcoal iron industry which has been to a great extent supplanted by the swifter methods of modern steel making. There never was a finer product than Upper Peninsula charcoal iron. The three plants, remaining in operation at Wells, Newberry and Marquette, are famed for the purity of their output, which is still indispensable to certain manufacturers of high grade tools and ferrous accessories.

Such were the thin beginnings of an industry which has made the world over. Gogebic county came into production, and Dickinson, and Iron, and Baraga. Then came the mighty Mesabi, the Vermilion, and Cuyuna. They form in their totality the iron country of Lake Superior, the vastness of which we in the north country cannot compass because we are too close to get the proper perspective.

Decades of Ups and Downs

When the first lock at Sault Ste. Marie was opened in 1875, monster schooners were built which actually carried 700 tons of iron ore down the lakes. People gaped with awe as they sailed by. Today they would be museum pieces. Huge ore docks were built only to be torn down in a few years as utterly insufficient. Rockefeller took over the lands of the Merritt boys and sold out in a few years to Carnegie for upwards of 100 million dollars. Carnegie sold to the U. S. Steel corporation for many times that. Gold mining was nothing to it.

Iron ore mining followed closely the vicissitudes of national industry. Iron and steel sales came to be considered a prime barometer of business. The barometer is never quiet long. The pointer turns unexpectedly from fair to unsettled weather, to storm and then to what the mariner calls a whole gale, and back to fair again. And for the past two years the wind has been blowing a whole gale and then some.

But Lake Superior iron ore is coming back. The ore movement which closed in December was more than six times that in 1932. The final report of the United States engineers' office at Sault Ste. Marie shows that the volume of iron ore passing through St. Mary's ship canal in 1933 was 22,226,025 tons. Compared with the 1932 tonnage of 3,607,119, this is a remarkable showing. The Upper Peninsula of Michigan has shared proportionately with Minnesota in this result.

The Rising Barometer

Last spring there was a purple gloom all over the lake iron region. The man who predicted shipments for the year of over ten million tons was regarded as a wild enthusiast. One usually reliable forecaster rather timidly ventured the opinion that shipments might reach fifteen million tons. He was roundly poo-poohed.

In a fairly normal year 45 million tons of Michigan and Minnesota iron ore go down the lakes. The steel mills of Gary, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Toledo, Youngstown, Buffalo and Detroit have mighty appetites, but for two years at least they have been suffering from severe attacks of indigestion.

What brought about this year's betterments? The nation's building schedules have been at the bottom rung of the ladder with the railroads for company. These ordinarily great consumers of iron products have been largely out of the market.

The pick-up in automobile sales has helped materially, but probably the largest factor has been the replacement necessities of a thousand awakening industries. The plant equipment of American business is said to be nearly 60 per cent obsolete. In other words it is 40 per cent usable and 60 per cent scrap. It is true that scrap is constantly made over, but iron and steel have a way of wearing out and rusting out. They are no more everlasting than the granite rocks which we once thought would endure eternally. This is a world of flux and flow, and even the stoutest and steeliest ferrous metals cannot forever withstand the attacks of time.

Fair Weather Coming

The best-posted men in the business look for a further increase in next year's shipments. This month a well-known mining review in a northwestern city forsees shipments of 30 million tons next season. A Cleveland ironmaster prophesies that shipments will reach 35 million or possibly 40 million tons.

Nothing else can put the Upper Peninsula on its feet as increased iron and copper production will. Mining is by far our greatest industry, and when it languishes everybody suffers. A return to normal activity will be welcomed, but not one in his senses desires a recurrence of the mining "prosperity" of 1929 or even of 1918. We got an overdose of good times then which this generation will never forget.

The Upper Peninsula of Michigan has reason for confidence in the mining outlook. It is fairly safe to say that great quantities of iron and copper ores will be mined here 100 years from now. One of the largest copper companies has systematically explored not over ten per cent of its acreage. The company operates in the world's largest known native copper lobe. Its copper brings a premium in the world's markets because of a superior degree of parity and ductility. Its shafts have yielded large amounts of native silver which is found, sometimes in mass form, with the copper.

Years of Mining Ahead

Upper Peninsula iron ore is far from exhausted. Many known bodies of fair commercial ore remain to be opened when the high grade shafts are worked out, and it will be years before the latter are abandoned. The low grade possibilities are almost limitless. One county alone is known to have reserves of 40 billion—not million tons of iron formation. Worth little now, it will supply the needs of industry in the decades to come, through beneficiation the first principles of which already have been worked out by Michigan Tech at Houghton.

This renowned institution has repaid the state's investment many times over through the scientific discovery of better mining methods and metallurgical processes. The wisdom of its founders has been amply demonstrated, and the researches now being carried on there will continue to add millions to Michigan's mining wealth.

There is also good reason to believe that the depression has about burned itself out. What has really happened is that we have been paying the costs of a great war for thirteen years, just as the country did for the same time following the Civil war.

When we are inclined to despair of the future we should ponder the words of one of the wisest men who ever lived, Thomas A. Edison: "I have seen panics come and go, with prosperity on their heels, usually greater than ever. The future always takes care of itself. This great country cannot long stay in the slough of despond. Good times must come back, because it is in the nature of things that they shall return. Faith in ourselves will surely bring its reward."

Forty counties in North Carolina have pooled funds for buying 12,000 packages of rat poison in a co-operative campaign to eradicate rodents.

Pure White Linens New Style Order

(Linens from B. Altman, New York)

A New Deal for your linen closet might include just such an array of handsome pieces as shown above. Pale blue towels with white borders (upper left) are unusually large. Sheets and pillow cases (top row) come in various lengths to fit any bed. The pillow case (right) is hand-monogrammed in the new, easy-to-distinguish letters and, just below it, is a hand-embroidered guest towel. In the center, bottom row, is a beautiful linen face towel finished with mosiac work. Plain white damask face towels (lower left) are very smart right now.

POLICE SOLVE THEFT SERIES

Group of Five Implicated To Be Brought into Court Today

With the arrest of five youths, four from Kipling and the fifth from Gladstone, a series of thefts occurring here and at Kipling during the last two years are expected to be cleared up.

The young men, Wilho Anderson, Daniel Rivers, Norman Pepin and Oscar Vanders of Kipling and Alphonse Vanders of Gladstone, were taken into custody yesterday for questioning and after grilling by city and county officers several confessed to participating in a number of depredations.

Members of the group were taken to the county jail to spend the night and will be arraigned before Justice A. D. Alguire here this morning.

In complaints prepared yesterday Anderson is charged with the theft of a Marlin rifle, the property of Archie Vrooman, on Nov. of last year. The gun was taken from a car as it was parked for a short time at Kipling. Anderson and Pepin are jointly charged with theft of a storage battery from a Buckeye store truck, and Anderson and Rivers are jointly charged with theft of a number of articles from a boat owned by Dr. O. S. Hult of this city.

Raiding of the Hult boat, which is kept in a boat house on the shore near Kipling, occurred on July 30, 1932. Articles to the value of $34.50 including two bathing suits, a can of paint, can of varnish, two fishing poles, 30 gallons of gasoline and a fish tackle box and tackle, were taken at the time. A number of these articles were recovered yesterday.

Vanders is charged with theft of 20 gallons of gasoline, the property of the United States government. This theft occurred in 1931, at a time when army corps aviators were making aerial photographic maps of Delta and contiguous counties.

Despite continued grilling none of the group would admit that they had anything to do with tripping of several boats belonging to Dr. Hult, and B. R. Micks last fall. Anderson did admit that the summer before he and Rivers upon occasion took out Hult's boat at night for joy rides about the bay. He said they would swim under the edges of the boat house, open the doors and push the boat out. He also admitted theft of about 10 gallons of gasoline, the property of George Beaudry.

MAY CONDUCT NIGHT SCHOOL

Board Approves Plan; Would Aid Unemployed Teachers

Adoption of an adult educational relief program under the CWA was approved at a regular meeting of the Gladstone Board of Education here Wednesday night. Formal approval of the state civil works administration must be secured, however, before the program can be inaugurated.

The plan, it put into effect, will serve a two-fold purpose: that of providing education for a large number of adults and of giving employment to a number of unemployed teachers.

A group of 69 adults were present at the meeting and expressed desire that such a school be opened. A group of ten or more must take the same subject before a class in the subject may be opened. In expressing their wishes as to subjects to be taught it was found that in all, the group wished tutelage in 29 different studies. The majority wanted commercial work. There were, however, a number who desired to learn to read and write and also several that asked that grade subjects be taught.

All persons present requested that the school be conducted at night and the hours of from 7 to 9 p. m. were most favored. The school district would be required to furnish class rooms, heat and light and the teachers would be paid through the CWA.

If state approval is given, it is understood that the teachers will be selected and engaged by the county civil works commission. Supt. A. R. Watson has a list of unemployed teachers at the present time.

Financial Status Of Local Schools Is Looking Upward

The Gladstone schools had a cash balance of $12,937.41 on hand on Dec. 31, 1933, it was disclosed by a financial report submitted to the Board of Education Wednesday evening by Julius A. Bredahl, treasurer.

Receipts up to that date totalled $36,670.65 while the total of expenditures was $23,733.24, the report revealed.

With approximately $6,000 in Turner money still due the local schools, delinquent tax returns for the last quarter of 1933 now due and with returns from the school taxes now being collected anticipated in the near future, the prospects of being able to complete the full school year with little or no financial difficulty are extremely bright.

SEEK OKEH ON SEWAGE PLANT

City Would Construct Modern Unit as Public Work

Approval by the federal government of the construction here of a modern sewage disposal plant as a public works project is being sought by the city of Gladstone.

Applications were forwarded last Saturday, the final day for filing, according to regulations previously announced by the public works administration.

An enormous amount of engineering, financial and legal data had to be compiled in preparing the application for submission to the federal administration.

Plans have already been prepared by Shoecraft, Drury and McNamee, Ann Arbor, consultant engineers.

Besides the plant, it is proposed to build an outflow pipe into the bay, a trunk sewer in the Buckeye Addition and a pumping station in the north end of the city for use in pumping the sewage to the disposal plant. This is necessary because of the difference in elevation in the different sections of the city.

Should the government approve construction, the issue would be placed before the people as it has been decided that the most feasible method of financing is by general bond issue. Should it be later approved by local residents, the government would loan the money and thirty per cent of the total amount would be a direct grant to the city.

School Projects Are Submitted To Civil Works Body

Construction of a tunnel between the heating plants of the Gladstone Junior and Senior high schools has been approved as a civil work, it was learned yesterday.

Decorating of the First and Fourth Ward and Buckeye schools under the civil works program was also considered feasible and advisable and the projects will be submitted to the county commission for approval. Making of some repairs at the Central school, mainly installation of air vents necessary in the new ventilating system that is contemplated was also approved by the board of education during their meeting.

Decorating of the Central school was not considered advisable at this time as a repair program for which federal aid is being sought is now hanging fire.

THEATRES

Fifty beautiful chorus girls; a cast which includes such outstanding names as those of James Dunn, Lillian Roth, Cliff Edwards, June Knight, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Lilian Bond, Dorothy Lee and Lona Andre! a battery of song writers and lydicists that reads like a Who's Who of Tin Pan Alley, combine to make this musical extravaganza, "Take a Chance," one of the delights of the current season.

"Take a Chance" opened at the Rialto Theatre yesterday and if the patrons didn't roll in the aisles it was because they were too weak from laughter to do so.

This picture must not be classified as just another back-stage romance. Its scenes range all the way from a carnival side show, through a swanky gambling club, out to the homes of the socially elite on Long Island and back to Broadway. Beautiful music, beautiful girls, outstanding work by the all-star cast and a strong story full of thrills, laughter and nonsense are carefully blended into a picture that is a pleasure to sit through, not once but several times.

American Oyster Culture to Bring Back British Beds

London (AP)- Only a miracle or an American can save the British oyster from extinction.

This was the conclusion reached by British oyster merchants at a meeting to decide what should be done about the great oyster slump in this country.

So, not expecting the miracle, the meeting asked the government to finance importation of an American expert.

It was revealed that in 20 years the production of British oysters had dropped from 20,000,000 a year to fewer than 3,000,000.

J. M. Tabor, deputy chairman, said that the shortage was due to a succession of bad breeding seasons. Americans, he said, had acquired the art of breeding oysters artificially which experts here could not master.

150 Births In City During Past Year; Deaths Number 71

The stork came close to delivering an equal number of boys and girls in Manistique during 1933, according to birth records at the city hall which indicate that 76 girls and 74 boys were born here during the course of the year. In 1932, 80 boys were born as compared with a total of 64 girls. The number of births was the largest in three years, 154 being reported during 1930. In 1931 births numbered 143 and last year increased one for a total of 144.

Deaths during 1933 numbered 71 or four more than occurred the year prior. In 1931 a total of 67 deaths occurred. The greatest number of deaths, as well as the greatest number of deaths in the three year period, occurred in 1930, figures indicating a total of 97. Of the deaths during 1933, 45 were men and 26 were women.

STORM SEWERS GET CWA OKEH

Federa Government to Bear Cost of Much Needed Utility

Official approval of the installation of storm relief sewers for the city of Manistique under the civil works program, was received here late yesterday afternoon by W. G. Stephens, chairman of the county civil works commission.

The storm relief sewer project was defeated last Tuesday in the special election by a vote of 425 to 45, when it was brought up for a vote under the public works program. As a PWA project, the cost would have had to have been borne by local taxpayers, minus the thirty per cent federal grant on labor and materials. The bond issue called for a total outlay of $80,395.00 in general obligation bonds. Under the CWA, however, it is understood that all costs will be borne by the federal government.

Application to transfer the storm relief sewer project to the civil works program was made by local officials about a week prior to the special election.

Because of the urgent need of storm sewers in the city, local CWA officials stated yesterday that no time would be lost in getting the project underway.

Owing to the fulfillment of the county quota of 500 on CWA projects, transfers of men will have to be made from some of the projects now being consummated, to the storm sewer project.

By JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—Speculative markets today weathered whatever surprise they may have received from the enormous figures in the federal budget, and closing prices found most commodities with net gains while stocks, on the whole, showed little change.

Wall Street, bewildered at first by word that the government planned to borrow six billions in new money and four billions for refunding during a six months period, appeared to have reached the conclusion that the president, in his presentation of the recovery program costs, had put the cards on the table, whether or not all of them would have to be played.

The budget statement, it was pointed out, was bold and bald, but it set a limit to expenditure and it provided for footing the bills through orthodox means. That the prospective borrowing program foreshadows further credit expansion, which is regarded as a possible form of inflation, was accepted as inevitable, and no doubt the moderate advance in staple prices got its impetus from this view.

The first reaction to the news was a decline for U. S. government bonds and the dollar; however, the former closed with some recovery from the lows and dollar exchange was not particularly hard hit. Stocks stood virtually motionless while traders tried to digest the budget figures; later, metal shares, inspired partly by fresh silver agitation in congress, this time in the house, and partly by renewed rumors of an impending free gold market, rallied and irregular advances occurred elsewhere. The average net change was a decline of two-tenths point. Volume was only 1,210,840 shares.

On the stock exchange, several of the mining issues got up 1 to about 4 points, among them U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Dome, Cerro De Pasco and McIntyre. Homestake soared 16. U. S. Steel finished unchanged. American Telephone, General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey, North American and Santa Fe lost fractions, while Allied Chemical, New York Central, Chrysler, National Biscuit and National Distillers gained moderately.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Jan. 4 Prices on Board of Trade moved in narrow range today as buying power seemed to be lacking. Wheat was the most active grain, but even it showed little response to the bullish news.

Trade in corn was light and values were more or less neglected. The July option showed a slight gain, but the market appeared especially vulnerable to a considerable selling movement.

Stocks moved firm at some fraction from the day's top but left the above yesterday's final quotations 3@5 cents off, declines of 1@2 cents, and prospects only 1@2 cents inferior to a rise of 1 cent.

Corn displayed independent firmness on the heels of unfavorable weather. An active demand for cash lots was reported but nothing was sold in Chicago. United States crop being sold and offered chiefly reflected the action of corn.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by downturns of hog values.

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The government's long-term listed securities were heavy and unusually active in today's bond market following publication of the budget message presented to congress by President Roosevelt.

While most of the federal issues rallied in late trading, after some large blocks had changed hands, the majority closed moderately under their quotations of the previous session. Transactions in the government section amounted to some $7,200,000 against $1,600,000 yesterday. Final net gains ranged from 2-32nds to 7-32nds of a point and losses from 1-32nd to 8-32nds.

Corporation loans, as a whole were mildly irregular, with principal recessions being recorded by so-called high grade issues. The average for 60 domestic corporate maturities declined one-tenth of a point. Sales totaled $17,059,000, par value, of which the federals accounted for the largest proportion.

Traders and investors apparently found interpretation of the new budget somewhat difficult. In some quarters it was felt that the borrowing by the treasury of some $10,000,000,000 in the next six months might cause a substantial advance in interest rates which would put outstanding government issues at a disadvantage. Hurried selling of treasury 4¼-3¼s and some other longer-term bonds was reported, but selling dried up in the final hour upon the appearance of more sanguine buyers.

While the market, as a whole, seemed a little confused regarding details of the huge government spending program during the remainder of the fiscal year, the fact that the money will be raised by orthodox borrowing was cheering to those financial circles which saw in this feature a virtual renunciation of monetary inflation.

Minor losses and gains were the rule throughout the corporate groups. Various loans of Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Hudson & Manhattan, International Telephone, National Dairy, Postal Telegraph and some others held gains of around a point each. Some bonds of American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, Burlington, Chesapeake & Ohio, Frisco, Southern Pacific, Southern and Union Pacific eased.

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—A last hour recovery led by gold mining shares brought the curb market to an improved plane at the close today.

Forenoon losses were cancelled or reduced and metal shares closed fractions to more than a point net higher.

Alcohols showed a few minor recessions on final prices while a fairly steady tone prevailed among oils. Utilities and industrial specialties were narrowly mixed.

Newmont gained 2½ points and advances of around a point occurred in Lake Shore Mines, Pioneer Gold, and Bunker Hill & Sullivan. In the power group Consolidated Gas of Baltimore ranged a point higher while Electric Bond & Share and American Gas & Electric almost cancelled fractional dips.

The Standard Oil shares ended steady to slightly improved. Aluminum Company of America, Hiram Walker, Canadian Industrial Alcohol A and Parker Rust Proof yielded fractionally.

Transfers approximated 202,000 shares, about the same as yesterday.

Payments Held Up

Sault Ste. Marie—Because it was claimed Roy C. Murphy, of Ashland, Wis., who constructed forestry camps at Raco, Strongs and Pine River, failed to pay the existing scale of wages to his workmen, government contract payments have been held up.

The request was made of Col. Earl North, War Department, Washington, by J. J. McEntee, assistant director of emergency conservation work. The request was contained in a letter from Mr. McEntee to Col. North received by Commissioner Ralph Eckardt from Cong. P. M. Brown.

Mr. Eckardt said there were at least 20 men in this vicinity who still have pay coming, some as much as $68. To these men Mr. Eckardt gave assurance that government authorities would bring about a settlement.

Hockey Star Absolved of Blame In Collision

ED SHORE WILL BE REINSTATED

Bailey of Toronto Is Recovering from Skull Fracture

Montreal, Jan. 4 (AP)—Eddie Shore, defense star of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey league, today was absolved of any deliberate intent to injure Irvin (Ace) Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs when he charged into him at Boston December 12 and his indefinite suspension set to end January 28.

Frank Patrick, managing director of the league, in announcing the action said a thorough investigation had convinced him the collision of the two players was an accident and now that Bailey's recovery seemed certain he was restoring Shore to good standing.

"Proper consideration has been given to the mental anguish Shore has undergone," Patrick said, "and to the fact his playing record does not class him as a vicious player. x x x I firmly believe Shore had no intention of injuring Bailey and in the ordinary course or run of play he would have been given only a minor or major penalty."

Patrick said he also took into consideration the $6,741 the Boston club raised in a benefit game played for Bailey, "a sum in excess of any amount that I would have been inclined to impose upon them as a fine."

Bailey, who suffered a fractured skull when he was knocked to the ice by Shore, is still in a Boston hospital. He gave evidence of his recovery today by talking to reporters and said he hoped to be out of the hospital in a week or two. He also absolved Shore of any deliberate action against him.

Patrick's action was generally commended as fair, but Conn Smythe, managing director of the Toronto club, said he planned an appeal to the full league directorate of Patrick, Tom Arnold and Frank Calder on the grounds that compensation should have been granted Bailey and the Leafs. Toronto already has spent $2,500 on Bailey's hospital and doctor bills, Smythe said, and he argued that the sum the Boston benefit game brought Bailey was not enough "since he probably will never play hockey again."

BY BILL KING
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Boston, Jan. 4 (AP) Irvin "Ace" Bailey, injured Toronto hockey player whose escape from death will probably go down in medical annals, today was permitted to make a fleeting contact with the world outside his sickroom.

The world, or rather its representative, a newspaperman, was admitted to his bedside to hear his own story of the most serious accident that has befallen the game of hockey in more than 30 years.

Before he had passed into a coma in a Boston Garden dressing room on the night of December 12, he had absolved Eddie Shore, the Boston player who collided with him and felled him to the ice with such force that his skull was fractured.

"It's all in the game, Eddie," Bailey answered when the remorseful Shore expressed his sorrow over the accident. Today the same charitable spirit dictated his version the day of the happening.

"I didn't see Eddie and he didn't see me and we crashed," Bailey explained in a weak but clear voice.

"I don't remember anything leading up to the play or anything about the game except what I have been told. Art Ross, the Bruins manager, has described the events leading up to the accident. He said Horner and Clancy were out on a rush and that Marty Barry of the Bruins had the puck. Shore was offside in our defensive zone and was skating back to avoid a penalty. Ross told me that I was skating back to cover Horner's and Clancy's territory and we crashed. That's all. This is the first bad accident I have ever had in hockey and I can't remember exactly what happened."

He was asked how long he thought it would be before he could play again.

"Ross told me," he said, "that I should forget hockey and rest for a couple of weeks and then I'd probably be fit to play. I reminded him that the season would soon be over, but he said not for a couple of months and that by that time we would be playing the Stanley cup series and that I would be able to play in it."

Hagen and Sarazen Not In Golf Match

Los Angeles, Jan. 4 (AP)—Failure of Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen to appear for the Los Angeles open golf championship starting Saturday caused the tournament committee today to qualify 13 additional competitors who failed by one stroke each to make the grade in yesterday's 36-hole round.

The additions bring the list of qualifiers to 139. Those who squeezed in today under the ruling are:

Jim Fogerty, St. Louis; Dr. Cliff Baker, Portland, Ore., amateur; Ed Kingsley, Salt Lake City; Art Lynch, New York; Ed Brooks, Coral Gables; Harold Gray, Denver; Barry Giffen, Los Angeles; Sam Rankin, Los Angeles; Fred Sherman, San Diego; Bert Stamps, San Jose; F. P. Hixon, Pasadena; Lou Nevi, San Francisco, and Art Wendorf, Wisconsin entry.

No word has been received from Hagen, but Sarazen informed the committee he could not be here in time because of business pressure.

ROCK TO PLAY AT STEPHENSON

Little Giants Will Not Have Their Captain and Coach

Rock, Jan. 4 (Special)—A crippled and badly disorganized Rock high school basketball team will travel to Stephenson Friday evening for the first of a two-game series with the Menominee county cagers.

The Little Giants will go into the game without the playing services of their captain and without the guiding hand of their coach. Leslie Vittala, forward and captain, is definitely out of the game with a bad throat infection. His loss is a blow to the team as he is a good defensive player and his passing is a steading influence to the team. Coach George Weingartner was called to Lansing Wednesday by pressing school business and will not return in time for the Stephenson game.

Because most of the players live several miles from school, many have been unable to attend practice sessions this week. As a consequence the team will have to rely on the form they showed before the holidays. They showed much power in their first three games of the season and they may have enough to overcome Stephenson despite their lack of practice and loss of coach and captain.

Nothing is known of the comparative strength of the two schools this year. Stephenson, however, is reported to be greatly improved over last year. They have five returning lettermen, three of whom were regulars last year and are playing their third year on the team.

The reserve teams of the two schools will meet in a preliminary. The probable starting varsity lineup for the Little Giants will be: Kulju and Kaukola, guards; Rosdet, center; and Lauri at one forward position. The other forward is still in doubt but Brukardt and Hakanen will probably alternate at that post.

Announcement was made to the effect that no fans would be taken on the players' bus to Stephenson.

Dempsey Expects To Become Daddy

Salt Lake City, Jan. 4 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, said tonight he and Mrs. Dempsey, the former Hannah Williams of Broadway, are expecting an heir.

Dempsey, grinning around a cigar while his train stopped here enroute to New York, said he and his wife are "very happy."

"I always wanted one," he said. "Hannah is well pleased as well as myself. We hope it will be twins."

"Both boys, Jack?" Dempsey was asked.

"We'll be glad anyway," he replied.

Mrs. Dempsey, a smiling witness to her husband's statements, declined to be quoted on the prospects for another "cheerful little earful." She is Dempsey's third wife.

He was divorced from Estelle Taylor, movie actress, last year.

Dempsey said he will spend a day in Chicago and then continue to New York in an effort to get Max Bear and Primo Carnera matched for the title Jack once held.

McLarnin Given Chance At Title Against Dundee

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—An offer to Jimmy McLarnin, world welterweight champion, for an opportunity to increase his titular holdings by boxing Vince Dundee of Newark, N. J., the middleweight champion, at Madison Square Garden this winter, was telegraphed today by Matchmaker James J. Johnston to "Pop" Foster, McLarnin's manager.

Terms and a definite date for the match, in February or March, will be discussed, Johnston said, after he hears from Foster, who is in Los Angeles. McLarnin has not been in the ring since he knocked out Young Corbett III for the welter title.

If McLarnin balks at the match, the Garden matchmaker added, Dundee will be asked to defend his 160-pound title in Miami, March 8, against an opponent to be selected.

Two title fights are already booked by the Garden management for the Florida city, the first between Joe Knight and Maxey Rosenbloom, February 8, for the world light heavyweight championship, and the other on February 22 between Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran for the heavyweight crown.

WYNEKOOP CASE SET FOR JAN. 11

the operating table on which Rheta was found huddled, face down, blankets tucked neatly under her dead form—saved by state investigators, perhaps, to be set up on a criminal courtroom stage for a reenactment of the crime before a jury; there were the dead girl's garments, sheets and blankets stained with blood; a waste basket and its contents, alleged to be pads that soaked up the girl's blood.

Listed, too, as state's evidence were the pistol and the bullet that the state alleges killed Rheta after she was unconscious from anaesthetic; the other mask, and various drugs; photographs, and letters one of them a letter written by Rheta to Earle at the Grand Canyon, but returned and seized by the police.

"Since no warrants have been issued for the search and seizure of the aforesaid property," the defense attorneys pleaded, "we request the court that it be turned over to us for the purpose of scrutinizing it, that we might prepare a proper defense. We also pray that all evidence which has been seized illegally be suppressed."

Judge David was willing to order that all state evidence be made available for scrutiny by the defense. But the court refused to suppress the evidence. To the defense protest against "prowling" of policemen Judge David answered: "It is the duty of the police to obtain all the evidence they can find in an effort to solve a crime, especially a murder. They have the right to 'prowl,' to dig up the sewers if necessary. If they waited to get a warrant to seize evidence, it might be gone by the time they get there, and they'd never clean up the case."

Tags Show Bucks Move But Little

Lansing, Five bucks wearing tags were killed by deer hunters in Michigan during the recent season, the conservation department has reported. Comparison of records submitted by the hunters and made by the department at the time of the tagging indicated that none of the tagged animals had moved any considerable distance.

One of the tagged deer was killed by Mrs. Lillian Wheeler, Graying. The buck, tagged in the Crawford state game refuge, was killed but four miles from where it was captured and tagged in 1930.

A buck killed by Walter E. Amolsch, of Dearborn, near East Tawas, was tagged in March, 1931, and released on the Iosco refuge. Lawrence Retzlaff, Pontiac, killed a buck in Montmorency county within two miles of the place where it was released two years ago. A fourth deer shot by Louis J. Van Sipe, of Spratt, had moved three miles in more than two years.

A deer tagged near Hulbert, Chippewa county, in February, 1931, and killed by Charles G. Sedig, of Chicago, but a few miles away had increased in weight from 50 pounds live weight to 137 pounds dressed.

BENEFIT FIGHT CARD PLANNED

Boxing Program Will Be Presented Week of January 22

For their splendid cooperation in the last and other fight shows presented by the Escanaba Rifle club, amateur boxers of this locality will receive their reward in a benefit card which will be presented at the Coliseum probably during the week of January 22.

Because of severe cold weather and contributing causes, the "gate" at the last show was below expectation and sufficient funds to meet all contracted obligations were not realized. The boxers who have been receiving payments for their services in merchandise certificates agreed to donate their portion of the show after the last card and in appreciation of their offer, Promoter Sundling has decided to put on the benefit show in which funds will be turned into merchandise certificates for the fighters.

According to A. A. U. rules, amateur fighters are not permitted to receive cash for their bouts outside of actual traveling expenses but merchandise certificates in any amounts can be given to the battlers, according to Promoter Sundling.

A moderate general admission price has been decided upon by the management in an effort to bring out the fans. With the exception of only a few of the best ringside seats which will go on sale at a price above general admission, all seats in the house will be thrown out for sale at the reduced rate. The ringside seats which will be reserved is to accomodate a group of the faithful fans who insist on reserved seats and are willing to pay a higher admission price for the privilege.

Luke Ebel, Wisconsin state amateur middleweight champion, spoke highly in praise of the boxing programs offered in Escanaba. Ebel asserted that the bouts offered here are on a par with those seen at the Chicago Tribune tournament. He also praised the boxers for their splendid sportsmanship.

Baskets Are Easy For Purdue Team

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 4 (AP)—The basket eyes of Purdue's players were sharper than ever tonight as the Boilermakers overwhelmed an invading Mississippi college team, 61 to 25. Purdue led 39 to 12 at the half.

Cottom, with 12 points, and Eddy and Febring with nine apiece, led the Purdue scoring, while Andersoni and Hitt each made eight for Mississippi.

Munich, Germany, (AP) Jews again are permitted to use the municipal baths here after being barred from them for several months. Claims by non-Aryans for refunds of prepaid subscriptions to the baths induced the authorities to reverse the ruling.

Manistique Ready For Munising Fray

Manistique, Jan. 4 (Special)—Manistique high school's varsity cage squad will attempt to break into the win column this evening and stop a series of four straight defeats when they meet up with Munising on the latter's floor. The Alger county lads, like the local quintet, have bumped into some tough foes this season which also resulted in a string of losses for the Jackson men. Both aggregations feel that this evening's game offers an opportunity to atone for past defeats and the contest will no doubt offer plenty of excitement to the spectators.

The Green and White squad have been practicing hard this week devoting plenty of time to perfecting a smooth working offense. The starting lineup for Manistique is expected to be Berger and Stoor, forwards; Morrison, center; and Hartman and Eggertson at the guard posts.

be placed against French wines because of that country's failure to pay its war debt. Calling the French a "nation of cheaters" and "defaulting misers," Britten also said President Roosevelt should force France to pay its debt or lose its export trade to this country.

In opening five hours of debate on the measure, Chairman Doughton disclosed that the liquor bill, designed to raise $470,000,000 annually, including $160,000,000 from the $5 a barrel beer levy, was temporary.

A complete revision of the liquor laws is contemplated later, he said, adding that the purpose of the temporary measure was to start a flow of new revenue into the treasury through the increase over the present $1.10-a-gallon rate.

The $2 rate, he explained, was considered "reasonable" as well as the maximum that could be levied to produce the most revenue and at the same time low enough to eliminate illicit traffic.

OPPOSITION REMOVED

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP) — Stumbling blocks in the way of confirmation of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., as secretary of the treasury and James M. Landis of Massachusetts as a member of the federal trade commission tonight apparently had been removed.

Senate Republican leaders decided not to make a party issue of the discharge by President Roosevelt of William E. Humphrey of Washington, a Republican, to make a place on the trade commission for Landis.

The Landis appointment was one of those made during the recess of congress. Humphrey was removed by the president and took his case into the courts contending he was ejected without cause and was entitled to his pay.

The nomination of Morgenthau to be secretary of the treasury was assured of quick consideration. After the senate finance committee had unanimously approved it and Senator Long (D-La.), had announced on the floor he would not contest the appointment.

Morgenthau appeared in person before the committee and after a lengthy examination as to his qualifications by committee members and by Long, a non-member, regarding internal revenue bureau cases, all 18 senators voted for a favorable report.

Chairman Harrison said Morgenthau, a close personal friend of President Roosevelt who took office New Year's Day, made a "very wonderful impression" on the committee, which acted even before the nomination was before it. He later submitted the favorable report to the senate, but under the rules action was deferred until Monday, the senate having recessed over the week-end.

Long, who had indicated he might oppose the nomination, said he was satisfied with the examination of the New Yorker by the committee and would not oppose him.

He explained he had sought permission to question Morgenthau because of newspaper reports of statements attributed to the secretary regarding tax settlements pending before the revenue bureau. He said he regarded the statements as "unwise and irregular."

BIG FIELD OUT IN MIAMI OPEN

Over 150 Are Registered: Revolta Playing on Pacific Coast

Miami, Fla., Jan. 4 (AP)—One of the greatest fields in ten years of competition was entered tonight in the $2,000 72-hole Miami open golf tournament, starting tomorrow.

Registration lists, which include names of many of the crack shot makers of the country as well as a sprinkling of amateurs, have passed the 150 mark.

Practice rounds were completed today over the 6139-yard par 70 course, with indications that local entries may give the veterans a run for the money during the tournament, which opens with an 18-hole round tomorrow, followed by another Saturday and the final 36-hole grind Sunday.

Willie Dow of Miami led the field in the last practice rounds, carding at 67, three under par. Tommy Armour, the black Scot from Chicago, came in with a 68, a stroke better than Gene Sarazen, P. G. A. champion, and Eddie Hassmann of Miami.

Many of the other entries ran into difficulties and bowed to par.

Although California tournaments have attracted some of the colorful players from golf's green pastures in Florida in the past few weeks, there were plenty of veteran campaigners entered to make it one of the best in its ten year history.

Principal among those missing is Johnny Revolta, the present title holder, from Milwaukee, who now is competing in Pacific coast tournaments. Another is Denny Shute, the British open champion.

Sarazen, who won the Miami open for four consecutive years from 1927 to 1930, has been looked upon to win again this year, but the hurdles will be none too easy.

Standing in his path to the $500 top prize will be such contenders as Willie MacFarlane, the Scot from Tuckahoe, N. Y., who recently won the $10,000 Miami Biltmore tournament with first money of $2,500 and who has laid plans for a clean sweep through Florida meets this winter.

Among other leading players who have entered are Cyrll Walker, Billy Burke, Johnny Farrell, Phil Perkins, Mike Brady, Willie Klein and Joe Turnesa.

Amateurs entered include Tommy Goodwin, Monroe, N. Y., holder of the South Florida and Dixie amateur championships; Curtis Bryan, winner of the last Florida year-round clubs tournament, and Celest Durand, Garden City, N. Y., who has been campaigning in Florida for the last few years.

Forestry Workers Check Fish Catches

Lansing, Emergency conservation workers in six camps in the northern part of the lower peninsula will obtain accurate data on fish taken from improved lakes during the coming winter and spring.

Among the lakes from which information as to fish catches will be taken are Fife lake, Kalkaska county; Budd lake, Clare county; Clear lake, Ogemaw county, and Hess lake in Newaygo county.

These lakes are among the large number in which improvements have been made by crews from C. C. C. camps working under the direction of the fish division of the department of conservation.

Practical results of the improvements may be judged to some extent by the number of fish taken from these waters. Those conducting the census are provided with cards which all persons fishing on the lakes will be asked to fill out.

Luce County Job List Is Analyzed

Few men with dependents are unemployed in Luce county, according to figures now being compiled in the national employment office here. The total story has not yet been told, several hours of hard work remaining before the figures are completed, as concerns the men already back at work, but considerable has been learned about the men still unemployed.

There are now registered 782 persons. From this number 400 are working on CWA projects and 25 are taken up on PWA jobs. Besides these, 21 have been taken from the rolls to go back to normal work at local plants. A study has been made of the 342 men still unemployed. It is found that their average age is 35.1, that the average for education is the seventh grade and that the average number of dependents per man is .71. This would seem to indicate that few men who are in great need of work are still idle and it is the belief of the officials that no cases of great need now exist. A glance over the names of men now working and the number of dependents would indicate that the average per man will be high. Those figures will be ready later in the week.

Earl Pell, deputy emergency welfare officer, reports that from five to fifteen men are still applying daily for work. Some of these are men who have completed jobs and others have been laid off for some reason or other. Luce county on the whole is being well cared for, is the belief here.

ALL-NIGHT AUTO PARKING BANNED

Interferes With Snow Removal Operations on Streets

All night parking of automobiles on Escanaba's streets is prohibited for the winter months.

The Escanaba city council instructed the city manager at last night's meeting to have the police keep the streets cleared of motor vehicles at night due to the interference their presence causs snow plowing and removal operations.

Considerable time has been lost because city workmen have been obliged to move cars to allow the snow-fighting equipment to get through. There is also the possibility of damage to cars by collision with the plows, it was pointed out.

Work on the new airport near the sewage treatment plant is progressing favorably, City Manager T. F. Kessler reported last night. About one hundred men are employed in brushing and grubbing the area. Mr. Kessler read a communication, received from Stewart Earle of Hermansville, concerning the city's request for a price quotation on the old hangar at the U. P. Airways field.

Mr. Earle advised that in view of the fact that most of the cost of the hangar was construction and the concrete floor, it would be impossible for him to quote a price low enough so that the city could move the hangar to the new field. He expressed the opinion that the hangar would be worth more to the owners if it remained at its present site than what could be received from salvaging it.

Delta County's Courthouse More Than Half-Century Old; New Building Being Proposed

More than a half century old and in a sorry state of repair Delta county's red brick courthouse may be replaced by a larger and more modern building, if some means can be found to finance the public works project without placing too heavy a burden on the local taxpayer. Maybe, the CWA, PWA or some other of the federal government's alphabetic agencies can do the Aladdin Lamp trick.

There is no denying that Delta county needs a new courthouse. The weathed-beaten brick walls are no longer able to withstand the wintry blasts, and to add to the discomfiture of the county employees the heating plant is not functioning well. When the mercury hovers around the zero mark, the court house visitor finds the main hallway deserted and doors to every office closed tight, as the various workers, despite their red flannels, shiver up to the small electric heaters that have been installed for such occasions.

Courthouse Overcrowded

Years of governmental operations have meant the piling up of thousands of books and documents, recording these public transactions. The filing vaults are overcrowded, and what is many times worse a condition is that these vaults are not fireproof. Officials and other public employees are also cramped for working space.

The Delta county board of supervisors, at its meeting today, will discuss the possibilities for getting some so-called "easy money" for the construction of a new court house. Counties in other parts of the state are putting up such buildings, and it is felt that, at least, an effort should be made to determine whether it can be done here. Allegan county, for instance, was recently allotted funds by the PWA for such purposes, and it is reported that Bessemer is proceeding to erect a public building with CWA funds.

Masonville First County Seat

Before taking up the history of the present courthouse building, it might be well to go back first to the earlier days when Delta county was established.

The village of Masonville, named for Richard Mason, Sr., pioneer lumberman and sawmill operator, was the first settlement of any consequence in what is now known as Delta county. Masonville, or Gena postoffice as it was also called, was a bustling little community before Escanaba was heard of, and it was there that the first county seat was located. The county of Delta was organized in 1861. The act of incorporation provided that a committee, composed of David Langley, Peter Murphy, Thomas J. Streeter, be delegated to select a county seat, but there are no records in the archieves of the present courthouse to show that they ever submitted a report.

The records show that the board of supervisors held meetings, until 1865 when Escanaba was selected as the county seat, at various places, including Nahma, Masonville, and Ford River.

Daniel Goodwin of Detroit was the first circuit judge to hold court in the county. He came to Escanaba by boat and then went horseback, following the bay shore, as there were no roads north of here at that time, to Masonville, where he presided at a session in some lumber company building there. Since Thomas Ashton, a resident of Masonville, was the first county clerk, it had been decided to hold court there.

Incidentally, Eli P. Royce, a surveyor who platted the city of Escanaba, studied law in his spare time and was admitted to the bar May 4, 1865. He also later became the first prosecuting attorney and judge of probate.

Just how the county seat was shifted from Masonville to Escanaba does not appear in the records. The old-timers used to tell the story that pioneer Escanaba boosters "stole it." It was said that a fire visited the building where County Clerk Ashton's records were kept, and that while the structure was burning or shortly afterward, someone took the records and brought them to Escanaba.

Escanaba Picked in 1865

Anyhow, Escanaba was officially designated as the county seat in 1865. Oddly enough the first public building which was deemed necessary to build was a county jail, this being in 1866. Various buildings about the city were rented for the court sessions until the present courthouse was erected in the early eighties.

In the "History of Delta County," compiled by the late John P. McColl, the record of the courthouse building project is to be found.

On Oct. 16, 1878, a petition fod the construction of a new courthouse was presented, but it was not until Feb. 7, 1879, that the board of supervisors took its first official action by the appointment of a committee, composed of John B. Kitchen, John D. Ross and Charles E. Brotherton, to procure plans, specifications and estimates of the cost.

They submitted their report at the supervisor's meeting held on Oct. 29, 1879, when a resolution was adopted providing that a tax of one-half per cent on five mills be levied upon the taxable property of the county for building a courthouse, but providing that a majority of the electors of the county should so determine at the next annual election. On Oct. 13, 1880, it was ordered that the five mill tax should be levied.

Thomas J. Streeter, John D. Ross, Charles E. Brotherton, and Robert Peacock were named on a committee on Dec. 29, 1880, to secure plans and pick the location for the courthouse.

Paid $4,000 for Site

The records then show that on Feb. 7, 1881, a resolution was passed, approving the action of the committee in selecting a site and purchasing Block 5 of the village of Escanaba for $4,000 of David Oliver, which included a building on Tilden avenue that had been used for a church.

On April 1, 1881, the board of supervisors adopted a resolution providing for the issuance of bonds not to exceed $6,000 for the completition of the court house, if the majority of the electors so desired. On Feb. 15, 1882, a committee composed of George T. Burns, J. D. Ross, Robert Peacock, John F. Oliver and J. T. Streeter was selected to enter into a contract for the building. On Dec. 13, 1880, James Harris was employed to draw plans, and the records reveal that on July 28, 1882, the bids were opened and that the figures ranged from $20,270 to $28,700. There apparently had been a change made in architects for J. M. McDonald is mentioned as serving in this capacity, and the contract was awarded to H. G. Ashman.

On Sept. 8, 1883, E. P. Royce and J. F. Oliver were chosen to buy furniture for the court house.

A report, dated Feb. 27, 1884, was submitted by the architect and superintendent, releasing the contractor, J. BG. Sweatt, and accepting the completed building. Ashman, apparently, had not finished his contract, and the job of completing the structure was turned over to Sweatt.

Cost $26,474.14 Complete

The total cost of the court house complete was $26,474.14, while the expenditure for furniture was listed as $652.63.

The court house was paid for many years ago. Delta county is now freed of bonded debt, the last $20,000 of road bonds having been paid off recently. Although it is without any bonded indebtedness, the issuance of bonds for construction purposes is not considered advisable, principally because of the 15 mill tax limitation amendment, which has automatically reduced a a great degree the county's tax levying ability. The allocation made by the county tax commission last year allows barely enough for county government, despite the fact that the budget was pared to the bone.

If a courthouse is to be built at the time, it likely will have to be done with money that comes from Washington, D. C., and does not impose any responsibility upon local taxpayers.

9 APPLICANTS FOR LICENSES

Escanaba City Council Defers Action for Few Days

Nine applicants for liquor licenses have been received to date in Escanaba, City Manager T. F. Kessler reported to the city council at its meeting last night. The council decided to withhold action on the license question until a few days later, however, due to the fact that not all members of the body were present last evening.

The applicants are: Peoples Hotel, Phil Leduc, Hess Grill, Gries & Coplan, Delta Hotel, Hirn & Murray, John Peltier, Palmer Jorgenson and Ed. P. Johnson.

Several new CWA projects were discussed. These included a request from the Carnegie library board of trustees that CWA funds be allotted for redecorating the interior of the library building and making other repairs, the construction of a new bandshell at Ludington park; and the appraisal of real estate in the city for reassessment purposes.

A few years ago the city council planned to make the reassessment, but abandoned the project when it learned that it would cost about $6,000 to secure the services of appraisal experts. It is believed that it may be possible to engage an appraisal supervisor, who could direct the detail work to be done by "white collared" workers under the CWA program, at a greatly reduced cost. The city manager has sent an inquiry to the Lloyd-Thomas company, expert appraisers, to determine whether such a project can be carried out.

Gothard Arntzen, Escanaba architect, also presented for the council's inspection the preliminary draft of plans for a combination county courthouse and municipal building, which has been proposed as a suitable project to be done under the CWA program.

There are 40 principal theaters and 10 super-cinemas in London.
